“The Hunger Games” by Suzanne Collins. The genre is science fiction.

The Hunger Games is a “blood battle” that takes place about 1,000 years from now. Its no longer America anymore its Panem.

The whole country is divided into twelve districts/communities.

Each district selects representatives also known as tributes, one boy and one girl to enter the hunger games.

The hunger games are a battle that the Capitol puts on to show how powerful they are. In the hunger games they fight for their lives, whoever is the last one alive wins.

- They first start out with 24 tributes and end with only one, however with only seven tributes left in the games the Capitol throws in a little twist they have to work with their fellow district tribute.

- With injured Peeta will Katniss be able to fight by herself and protect her friend, and will she lead her team to victory? Find out by reading the book.
